[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO SEPT. 7.

Parisian News.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—The Moniteur says orders have been given to barricade the streets, and the citizens are quitting the city in the utmost haste, the Prussians having approached so near.

One of the papers to-day says the King of Prussia has announced that he will require the leading capitalists to guarantee three thousand million francs.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—1,200 of McMahon's troops are reported at Merieres, and 20,000 are between Vouziers and Lachene.

English Sympathy for the New Republic

PARIS, Sept. 7.—At an interview between Jules Favre, President of the new Republic, and Lord Lytton, the British Ambassador, yesterday, the views of the British Cabinet were fully discussed, and assurances were given of England's sympathy with France, and encouragement given of an early recognition of the Republic.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Duke de Grammont arrived in London yesterday, having escaped from France via Havre. The Duke states that the present revolutionary government in Paris cannot last, and predicts its speedy fall.

Foreign Powers Propose Terms of Peace.

The English government in conjunction with other neutral Powers, is about to make an earnest appeal to Prussia to conclude peace on the basis of the following propositions: French territory to be held inviolate; France to pay Germany her expenses of the war; general disarmament of France; destruction of all fortresses in Alsace and Lorraine. It is believed these terms will be acceptable to the Republic.

Army Movements.

PARIS, September 7.—The Prussians have entered France via Belfort and are going to Mulhause.

General Vinoy with 30,000 men is coming from Sedan to Laon. It is rumored he had an engagement with the Prussians in which he was worsted.

Terrific Assault upon Montmedy—The Prussians Repulsed.

LUXEMBURG, September 7.—A terrific assault has been made upon the fortifications of Montmedy. The besiegers opened a hot fire of artillery upon the city and assaulted the works with bayonets. The garrison successfully resisted the attack and repulsed the Prussians totally. The havoc among the assaulters was dreadful. The Prussians have withdrawn from the neighborhood, and the French remain at Montmedy. The Prussian residents from within the city are setting fire to their houses and half the city has been destroyed by conflagration.

Policy of the New Government.

PARIS, September 7.—A circular has just been issued by Jules Favre which contains the following points: The policy of France is that of leaving Germany master of her own destinies. The King of Prussia has said he made war against a dynasty and not against France, yet the dynasty is gone and France free; yet this war is continued. A delegation has been sent to King William.

Bismarck's Demands.

Bismarck demands Alsace and Lorraine, the Baltic fleet and four thousand million francs.

Republican Nominee for Governor of New York.

SARATOGA, Sept. 7.—In the Republican State Convention Gen. Stewart L. Woodford was nominated for Governor, receiving 278 votes against 105 for Horace Greeley and 20 for G. W. Curtis.

Petitions for German Unity.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The cities of the South German States, including Carlsruhe, Mayence, Stuttgart, and Munich have petitioned for annexation to North Germany.

ROME, Sept. 7.—The proclamation of a French Republic causes a profound sensation here. The arrests made by the authorities since the event have become innumerable. Hundreds have been imprisoned on charges of conspiracy.

Difficulty between Trochu and the Ministry.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—A rumor is circulated that a difficulty has existed between Gen. Trochu and the Ministers. The latter gave way and harmony is restored. The difference arose on the question of arming all classes. Trochu stood firm in opposition to arming the people.

Proposed Congress of the Great Powers.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—The Russian Government is about to propose a Congress of the great powers. Prussia will certainly decline.

Revolutionary Feeling at Nice.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Special dispatches from the Tribune's correspondent at Florence, dated Sept. 3d, says: A deputation from Nice to the Minister of Foreign Affairs were received here this morning. They announce that Nice is tired of enduring the tyrannical yoke of France. The people of the town and country have refused to join the Guarde Mobile. Daily conflicts are occurring between the military and people.

The Republic Expects the Support of the United States.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—The new Republican Government seems to count much on the moral and material support of the United States as their old ally. Its organs, particularly labor organs, call on Jules Favre to address himself for aid to the Government at Washington.

Prussian Plan of Attack on Paris.

The Prussian plan for attack on Paris is an advance by the Marne and Fontainbleau to Versailles, while the army now advancing from Soissons push on to St. Denis. This latter force will make an attack on Montmartre, but the attack will be on the other side. The enemy occupying Versailles and advancing by the road to Meudon and thence by Fort Dessay to the Heights of Clarmont will throw up earth works and plant batteries against Fort Dessay and open fire on the Van.

General Details of Parisian News.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—Every French town yet heard from accepts the Republic joyfully.

The Prussian advance is said to be near Soissons, rapidly marching towards Paris.

There has been nothing from Strasbourg for a day or two.

Trochu says Paris is safe. There is great rejoicing at the removal of the rigid press censorship. War news and details are published now without hindrance.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Duke de Grammont declares the Republican agents were at work all the time endeavoring to shake confidence and destroy discipline, and attributes the loss of several battles to that cause.

PARIS, Sept. 7—Evening.—No one knows what is to be done. There is no fire, no spirit in the people. The cry is the Prussians are approaching, and the government is busy distributing places to-day. Troops are marching into Paris. There is an ugly rumor afloat that there are no balls to fit the cannon on the fortifications.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—A large force of cavalry which escaped from Sedan, reached here this morning.

Garrison at Metz Starving.

LONDON, Sept. 7—10 P. M.—A correspondent of the Gaulois at Luxembourg, writes that the garrison of Metz is starving, and beef there is $2 per pound.

MISCELLANEOUS.

London turns out 101,000 pianos a year from 200 factories.

A Saratoga landlord rents a hammock on his back piazza for $3 a night.

The Memphis Fire Department turned out in full force the other night to extinguish the aurora borealis.

The Virginia Springs are so crowded with distinguished ex-Confederate officers that some of them are compelled to camp out.

One of the most valuable crops of Virginia and Maryland is the oyster harvest. Millions of dollars are invested in it every year.

A Minnesota benedict advertises his wife for sale, warranted sound and kind, his only reason for disposing of her being that he feels his own educational inferiority.

The citizens of Courtlandt, N. Y., justify their conduct in having tarred and feathered a helpless woman on the grounds that she had been insulting to the wife of her paramour. On one occasion, it is said, she requested the wife to do some washing for her.

CURRENT NOTES.

The census of Lynn, Mass., shows the population to be 28,231, an increase of 38 per cent. in five years. Fifty years ago the population was 4,515, not as many as either of the wards now contain.

Mayor Lewis' door-bell, at Meriden, Conn., rung mysteriously the other day. Similar experiences were noted at the same time in different parts of the State. The phenomenon is accounted for from the fact that the atmosphere was so strongly charged with electricity that it set all the bells ringing within an area of fifty miles.

The Big Horn expedition, it appears, has come out of the little end of the horn. They traversed pretty thoroughly the proposed country, but found no gold. They then divided into three parties and wended their weary way homeward. They have endured every kind of privation, and finally came into camp with the death of one man—Henry McHenry, who lost his way and died of starvation. It is exceedingly fortunate that the expedition has met with no greater losses. In this respect it may be considered a success.

The returns published by the British Government show that the United States have now quite eclipsed Russia in the English wheat market, and forward to the United Kingdom more than a third of its whole supply. In five years the increase amounts to 123 per cent., the largest increase in proportion to the quantities sent having been in the imports from the Southern ports of the Atlantic. For the present the States return to the second place on the list of the countries who supply England with cotton,—British India being still at the head.

On the 25th August at Kingston, N. Y., the following named persons were killed in a circus tent by a stroke of lightning: Elisabeth Newkirk, of Hurley, aged 16; Jane Montange, of Marbletown, aged 50; Arthur Scott, of Kingston, aged 30; James Bush, of Marbletown, aged 28, all colored, and an unknown person, supposed to be W. S. Everson. About 50 persons in the immediate vicinity, were knocked down. Inside the tent several were stunned, and quite a number badly burned. Several persons had their hats and shoes torn off.

A gentleman writing to a friend on the state of affairs at San Francisco, says: "You take a tour among the intelligence offices, and sights are witnessed which make the blood run cold. Hundreds of able bodied men and women crowd them eagerly and anxiously looking for work, begging for something to do to keep the wolf from the door. The supply is so much greater than the demand that a great number of the applicants hang about for months hoping for something to turn up. The sadness and sorrow depicted on the faces of the majority send a thrill of gloom to any heart having the least glow of sympathy with its fellow creatures."

A large gun is now in course of manufacture at the royal gun factories, Woolwich, which is expected to prove the most powerful piece of ordnance ever produced, and to settle definitely the long and hitherto even contest between guns and armor. It will weigh 35 tons, and will hurl a projectile of 550 pounds, with a charge of 100 pounds of powder, thereby imparting an initial velocity which will enable it to pierce an armour plate of iron fifteen inches in thickness, beyond which no ship meant to float can surely go. The barrel is of steel, strengthened at the breech by a strong iron jacket, and the caliber of the bore is about 11½ inches, but this point has not been definitely settled. The gun is at present experimental, but is expected to prove a formidable foe to the iron clads.

Mr. Froude, the historian, in a recent lecture on the "Philosophy of History," and the various phases through which historical study has passed, said: "We are as far as ever from forming impartial judgments, and facts partially stated are not facts at all. For the present I object to all historical theories. The most perfect English history which exists is to be found, in my opinion, in the historical plays of Shakespeare. In these plays, rich as they are in fancy and imagination, the main bearings of the national story are scrupulously adhered to, and wherever attainable, verbal correctness. Shakespeare's object was to exhibit, as faithfully as he possibly could, the exact character of the great actors in the national drama—the circumstances which surrounded them and the motives, internal and external, by which they are influenced. To know this is to know all. The reader can form his own theories. No such directness of insight, no such breadth of sympathy, has since been applied to the writers of English history."

Progress of the Ninth Census.

[Wash. (Aug. 22) Cor. of New York Tribune.]

The organization of the Census Bureau has been completed. There are now 275 clerks at work, and as fast as the reports come in from the assistant marshals of the subdivisions in the various States, they are thoroughly overhauled and compiled, and the nativities, ages, sexes, and occupation of the people properly classified, white and colored distinguished, mining, manufactures, trades, professions, and businesses of the towns and and cities fully and distinctly given, and many interesting statistical facts developed, never before included in the census returns of the country. There are as yet no complete returns from any city or State, and probably will be none until about October first. In many cases marshals are required to have a subdivision gone entirely over, and it is often found necessary to have them materially corrected, which causes much delay. Superintendent Walker says the large cities have all wonderfully increased in population and wealth, but some of them will not show as large population as has been estimated for them, because of the absorption, by the various suburban cities, towns, and villages, of a large portion of the population of the larger cities. Brooklyn, Jersey City, and the cities in New Jersey and Connecticut, contiguous to and almost forming part of New York, will show very great increase of population, the larger number of whom do business in the city of New York. The Marshal of Brooklyn reports that the increase there will be sixty per cent, while eighty per cent. is the estimate for Jersey City. Newark, it is claimed, has 120,000, and a large number of its inhabitants do business in New York. Gen. Walker estimates that New York city will have over 190,000. From Boston nothing has yet been received. The Marshal, however, reports that there will be about 10 per cent. increase on the returns of 1860. From Chicago there are but three wards complete, showing 24,511. Four wards from Cincinnati complete, show 21,280. Two wards in Baltimore, complete, show 22,611, of whom 1,823 are colored. Four wards of Washington City are completed, and foot up 55,486. This is less than half the city, and shows an increase of 79½ per cent. over 1860. With Georgetown and Washington county this city will have a population of about 140,000 more than double that of 1860.

No returns have been received from Missouri, but it is estimated that the population of that State has increased about one tenth since 1860. There is not yet a ward complete from Philadelphia, but, from the subdivisions already in, an estimate has been made that the increase will be about 15 per cent over 1860. All of the Southern States will show a vast increase in population. Now, for the first time, the entire colored population will be enumerated and classed in the representative column, instead of two-fifths of them as heretofore. Notwithstanding the devastation by the war in Virginia, the State will show an increased population. It is discovered that in Virginia none of the schools are in operation, owing to a lack of proper legislative action, but they will all be re-established under the township plan of New England. Altogether the ninth census promises to be very interesting in facts and developments.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The New York Democratic State Convention will meet September 21st, at Rochester.

General Schenck has concluded to accept the Republican nomination for Congress from the Third Ohio District.

Brick Pomeroy promptly reads Montgomery Blair out of the Democratic party, for suggesting Chase as the next President.

Republicans of Michigan have renominated Gov. H. P. Baldwin for re-election. Democrats have nominated C. C. Comstock against him.

There are so many aspirants for political honors in Wisconsin just now, that it is said to be a tolerable safe thing, when one meets a citizen of that State, to ask him who the other candidates are in his Congressional District.

The next Legislature of Pennsylvania will have the appointment of the Congressional and Legislative districts, the first for the next ten years, the second for seven. Both these are now fixed by the same Legislature for the first time since 1801.

The Baltimore American says: "J. Glancy Jones, late of Pennsylvania, now living near Dover, in the State of Delaware, is understood to be a willing candidate for Senator, to succeed Willard Saulsbury, whose term expires March 4, 1871 provided the Democrats carry the election this year."

The Democracy of the Fourth Illinois District are in high feather. They have a candidate for Congress, P. L. Cable, Esq., who proposes to spend fifty thousand dollars to beat the Hon. John B. Hawley, the present Congressional incumbent, and it is asserted that he actually has the money. This puts a smiling face on the whole party press, and the already discovered virtues of Mr. Cable are many and manifold.

The Louisville Commercial says there ought not to be the slightest doubt as to the success of the Republicans in carrying the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky. The majority for G. M. Adams (Democrat) over Barnes (Republican) in 1868, was only 462. Since then about 3,000 colored voters have been added to the Republican ranks; and in anything like a fair race the Republican nominee ought to come out with at least 2,000 majority.

The New York Star (Democratic organ) gives some items from which the public can get an idea of the Representative Democrat of the country, Chairman of the National Central Committee—August Belmont, Esq. He has a grand country residence, with groups of cottages built about for servants, magnificent stables, a mile race track, and fifty horses for private use, costing from $1,000 to $40,000 each. His servants dress in livery; and flunkeyism is the established order. And this is the head of the Democratic party! What a commentary on the old leadership.

The Anti Chinese Convention in San Francisco has adopted a platform comprising twenty-seven resolutions and several "Whereases" touching all manner of subjects. The only noticeable feature of the platform is a recognition of the fact that the interests of the white and colored workingmen are identical, and expressing a hope that colored delegates will be welcomed into all labor conventions. Who would have supposed that they would back down from the "white man's party" position in this manner. But the negroes have votes now and that makes all the difference.

E. D. Mansfield, in the Cincinnati Gazette, furnishes this interesting item for free-traders: "Many years ago I visited Pomeroy, where, on a creek, a small engine was pumping up salt water from a well 400 feet deep, not near so strong as that of the Kanawha; but they went to 1,000, and 1,200 feet deep, and found some of the strongest water in the United States. What is the result? There are twenty-six salt furnaces at Pomeroy, making seven millions of bushels of salt per annum. This was something Mr. Wells (ex-Special Commissioner) did not find out, and concluded all the salt of the country was at Syracuse or Saginaw!"

WAR MISCELLANY.

The best information about Bazaine's army, which all German official telegrams now prove is shut up in Metz, makes his strength about 60,000.

A rich heiress of France was betrothed to an aristocratic young officer of high rank in the French army. At the first indication of war, the young officer, whose nuptials were to be celebrated at an early day, resigned his commission. On hearing this his betrothed sent him the following note: "I had intended to marry a man. You are not even a woman. Count no longer on me."

There is no longer any room for doubt that Bazaine is "bottled up" at Metz as securely as General Butler was at Bermuda Hundred. In fact, all the troops with which Napoleon commenced the war, are as effectually incapacitated as though they were prisoners. There is nothing to oppose an effectual resistance to the Crown Prince except the fortifications about Paris. How effectual these are we shall soon learn.

The Boston Post, the leading Democratic paper of New England, has been an ardent admirer of the French Emperor. In an article written just after the great battles about Metz the Post was happy, and took this rose-colored view of the situation: "The French people laugh at mediation, and point to the hecatombs of Prussians as showing the King's greater need of foreign intervention; and the reluctant landwehr, shuddering at the slaughter to which a merciless monarch drives them, are of similar opinion. The French army has covered itself with glory and is sanguine of ultimate triumph." We guess this opinion will have to be revised.

Baron Gerolt, Minister of the North German Union at Washington, has received the following from his Government, dated Berlin, August 26: "The incident mentioned in the telegram of the 22d has recurred twice since. Capt. Rochow, sent by Gen. Alvensleben to Toul, with a flag of truce, has been received with shots, and a trumpeter accompanying another flag of truce has been killed. You will lodge a protest with the United States government against these repeated violations of international law, and declare that we shall be henceforth in the impossibility of sending a flag of truce to a nation whose soldiers have lost in Africa, China, and Mexico, all recollection of the usages of civilized warfare.

We fancy that there is a considerable class of persons in this community, who, having their sympathies, at the outset of this horrible war in Europe, strongly enlisted on the side of the Germans—find themselves, somewhat to their mortification veering round, and looking anxiously for the news of successful resistance by the French. We do not speak of Napoleon, who is reaping the just reward of twenty years' devotion to the enervation and degradation of his country, but of the fair land of France—of that nation which, with all its faults, has done so much in science, arts and letters, if not in arms, for the civilization and progress of mankind. There are many reasons for such a change of feeling, apart from natural sympathy with the weaker party in a contest.

At a meeting of the leading citizens of Berlin, on the 31st August, it was unanimously resolved to ask the whole German people to sign an address to the King, expressing their apprehension of the reports of foreign intervention being engaged in diminishing the fruits of the contest, and declaring that the demands which Germany will raise for her future welfare must be exacted by Germany alone. The people declare that they renew their vows of loyalty, which they will preserve until the King's wisdom, to the exclusion of foreign intervention, creates a state of affairs which shall guarantee, better than formerly, the peaceful conduct of the neighboring people, and establish the unity and freedom of the whole German Empire, and secure Germany against all attacks from without.

FRIDAY MORNING SEPTEMBER 9 1870

Groundless Partisan Assertions

Democratic Conventions have recently been held in several States to nominate candidates for the fall elections. The platforms adopted are all of a piece, the same set of wild and incoherent declamation instead of any exact statement and proof that the Democratic party now is more than at any former period in its history has no ideas, no policy and no definite purpose. We take the platform of their Michigan Convention as a subject for examination since it is very similar to all the platforms which that party has recently put forth. One of the resolutions declares that the Administration has proved a failure but fails to specify wherein it has failed. Another denounces the Administration and the Republican party as corrupt and extravagant but brings no proof to substantiate the charge. It is a favorite employment with the Democracy to inculcate the idea that there is gross dishonesty and wastefulness in the management of the Government yet they have never succeeded in substantiating by a single example of the charge which they prefer. On the contrary they are unable to answer or to find any flaw whatever in the statements of the Treasury relative to the national finances. It is said, indeed that the taxes are enormous and the conclusion is at once jumped at that the money is squandered. But the figures of the Treasury challenge denial. If such gross frauds as are alleged are actually perpetrated surely it would be easy for a vigilant opposition, interested in searching out such things to make that fact appear. Democrats talk as if they thought it entirely unnecessary for the Government to have a larger revenue now than it had before the war. They conveniently forget the fact that it now takes $152,000 000 per annum to provide for interest and pensions—an expenditure more than twice as large as the whole cost of maintaining the Government before the war. Laying out of consideration the extraordinary expenditure entailed directly by the war and from which there is no escape except by the Democratic method of repudiation the Government is now conducted as cheaply and economically as it was ten years ago. Official statements have often been made which prove this. Another resolution in the Michigan platform declares that a protective tariff is a system of plunder. If this is true it is an arraignment of all the great lights of the Democratic party who in times gone by not only advocated a protective tariff but enacted and maintained it. The platforms of all the recent Democratic Conventions are of a piece with this one. They make general charges but neither prove anything nor assert anything that is provable. They do not and cannot tell how the Administration has proved a failure; they do not and cannot tell what pledge has been broken. The facts contradict all their assertions and the people well know it. The result of the elections this fall will again prove that these empty platforms furnish no basis for Democratic success.

Good Reasons

The Idaho Statesman has an article in which the following with regard to Senator Williams occurs:

> He has honored his State in the United States Senate. He has made for himself an enviable record in the work of closing out a war which occurred in this country a few years ago, and subsequently in restoring the South to fraternal relations with the Government. He has taken an active part in the support of President Grant's administration, whose principal objects have been a faithful and impartial execution of the laws, the collection of the revenue, retrenchment of expenses and reduction of the national debt. He has set his face against incompetent and dishonest men in office, both in his own State and adjoining territories, and last, but by no means least of all he has championed the most beneficent system of railroads for his State, aiming to make it connect with the Sacramento Valley in the south, the Northern Pacific and the Union by way of the Columbia and Snake River Valleys, and from the Willamette Valley to Astoria on the coast. All these different projects he has favored with all his might, and will continue to favor them, believing that they form the foundation of the most perfect railroad system of any State in the Union. These are some of the reasons why Democrats should see something about Senator Williams that they like, and this is doubtless the reason why the Democratic press appear so nervous on the subject.

A few days ago the Marysville (Cal) Appeal, commenting on the political situation in San Francisco, said: "The election of the Tax Payers' ticket would be a terrible disaster to the Democracy utterly rending the party in twain in the city and so completely demolishing it that it could not recuperate in time for the general election next year." It is for this reason that the Examiner is so earnest and bitter in the fight and why the Republican party is laboring so actively and harmoniously with the Tax Payers. Politics have flopped in San Francisco, for this year at least and as to the effect of this change upon the future it remains to be seen.

The New York World we are told, claims large Democratic gains in Vermont. Such claims are invariably set up by the Democratic press, and the World can figure out "gains" when no other paper even of Democratic proclivities can. The story of the Vermont election no doubt is that in the absence of political excitement a very small vote was polled, so that instead of the 25 000 or 30 000 majority which the Republicans always get on a full vote they now have something less. Our Democrats are quite like those partisans of the late French Emperor who have claimed a victory in every battle.

Germany, says the Philadelphia Press, stands out before the world at this hour as the living breathing acting overwhelming argument for protection and that diversified industry which invariably accompanies it and is worth reams of the British free trade sophistries of those whom Carlyle has immortalized as the Dismal [illegible] sophists.

Sedan the place where the French army surrendered, was the birthplace of the great French Marshal Turenne. He was born in 1611. Perhaps no man with the exception of the First Napoleon ever secured so much glory for the French armies.

The census marshal reports 1 118 voters in Polk county. In the June election the returns were made to foot up 1 279 votes or 161 more than there are voters in the county. That sufficiently explains the Democratic majority.

In the State Republican Convention at Jefferson City Mo on the 2d inst the Committee on Resolutions reported in favor of pledging the party to the support of an amendment restoring political privileges to all those disfranchised on account of the rebellion. A minority of the Committee reported in favor of allowing all to vote for or against the amendment as they might choose. The minority report was adopted, when its opponents led by Senator Schurz left the Convention and nominated Gratz Brown for Governor on a platform of immediately re-enfranchising all persons disfranchised in the late rebel States. The other wing of the Convention took no action.

Reduction of Taxes

The Bureau of Statistics has prepared a statement showing the annual decrease which will be effected in taxation under the new law, the dates when such decrease will commence to take place and the different sources of revenue on which the reduction will operate. Following is a summary:

The special taxes including those on bankers except those connected with fermented liquors spirits and tobacco will cease on the 1st of May 1871 and no revenue will be derived from these sources. The tax on gross receipts will cease on October 1st 1870. The tax on sales with the exception of sales of spirits tobacco wines and those paid by stamps, will also cease October 1st 1870. The taxes on legacies, necessaries articles in schedule A, and passports will cease on the 1st of October 1870. Stamps for promissory notes for less than $100 and for receipts for canned and preserved fish will cease October 1st 1870. The income tax will be 2½ per cent on incomes of $2 000 instead of 5 per cent on incomes of $1,000. The total reduction of Internal Revenue will be $5 212 000. It is estimated that the decreased taxation caused by the new Tariff will amount to enough to make an aggregate reduction of $80 000 000 per annum.

Politics and the Census

Many Democratic journals have already taken the alarm about the probable results of the New York census. The New York Times thus refers to the matter:

In this City the party has for a long series of years exhibited a consistent abhorrence of correct enumeration and it is perhaps only natural that the unbiased figures of our present census should be denounced in advance as a Radical swindle. If the numbering of the people had produced the effect upon King David which the process appears to produce on some of our local Democrats there would have been little need of a Divine interposition to humble his pride which has unduly excited. That the probable total of our City population should be proved to be only 850 000 is, it appears, a monstrous wrong and plot and ought to be immediately remedied by the State Legislature. The same authority believes that a fair count would show that there are nearly if not altogether a million and a half of souls in our Metropolis. A count conducted on the same principles as those which have [illegible] up some late Democratic majorities certainly would.

INSANE GENERALS. The Nevada [illegible] has this appropriate notice in regard to approved insane Generals:

General McClellan is said to have expressed the opinion that if the Crown Prince of Prussia is marching on Paris he must be crazy. It is very probable that such a move of the Crown Prince would be a violation of all the old military rules; but then all great military commanders have won distinction by a violation of military rules and achieved success by striking blows in unexpected quarters. George the Third was told that Wolfe was insane yet he captured Quebec which no other British General of the day could have done. Sherman was also reported insane at the beginning of our war with what justice his subsequent career is the best comment. The Austrians thought the first Napoleon was insane in his first Italian campaign, because he managed and fought his army contrary to all military rules but they found his insanity had a method in it which led to success. If the Crown Prince does anything to induce so conservative a military man as McClellan to pronounce him insane we may have hopes that he will eclipse the glory of his great grand uncle, Frederick the Great.

Why the French Did Not Advance

[Correspondence N Y Times]

CAUSE OF FRENCH INACTIVITY AFTER THE DECLARATION OF WAR

NANCY Aug 9

The advantages of Germany in railway communication with her French frontier are far greater than those possessed by France to reach the German frontier. Here then is found the great secret of the superiority of force which the French Army finds on its front thus early in the history of the war. Naturally as France provoked the struggle and consequently knew that the war was to take place it was expected that she would strike a terrible blow and cross the German frontier with a dash. France expected to be able to do so, the whole world adopted the idea without studying the problem. When however the French army reached the frontier it found that united Germany could give France at last a week the advantage in time and meet her on the frontier line with an equal number of troops. This accounts for the inactivity of the French army contrary to all expectation.

WHAT THE FRENCH FOUND OUT

The Emperor found that more troops were necessary before he could really assume the offensive with the hope of making a brilliant campaign on German soil. Still, the French strategists do not appear to understand that while eight days may give France a battle line of 400 000 men the reason above mentioned may give Germans a battle line of 600 000. When the French Emperor struck Saarbruck the great salient angle of the German frontier line of railway I have mentioned he felt what there was in front of him and knew from the light defense of the position that the German generals meant well to work it. [illegible] their part where while striking heavily they might inflict serious injury and defend Saarbruck at the same time.

IMPORTANCE OF RAILWAYS

And here let me remark that the military men of Europe although appreciating to a certain extent the great value of railway communication in a campaign have not [illegible] full [illegible] value of the iron road in [illegible] the old [illegible]. When campaigns are discussed in Europe they are generally based upon the old lines followed by the Generals of the early part of this century. Hundreds of dollars have been bestowed in this way by its foreman to help the poor.

CENSUS OF OREGON

[illegible]

E[illegible] STEAM WASHER—Within the last few years a multitude of washing machines and appliances have been devised and patented—each claiming some new virtue and each pretending to be the [illegible] As a [illegible] experiments of inventors and patents however a few have proven [illegible] have met with the many [illegible] We have [illegible] a new candidate in the shape of a steam washer called the Eureka Steam Washer which seems to be constructed on philosophical principles. A description of the apparatus would require too much space. It must be sufficient to say that it is so fashioned with compartments and [illegible] pipes as to secure constant [illegible] of hot water and steam but [illegible] water through [illegible] than is usually given to the common boiler. There are testimonials from numerous ladies who have used it to the effect that this boiler requires less fire and less soap than any other while it bleaches and whitens the clothes much more rapidly and perfectly than any other. The cost is within everybody's reach and anybody can operate it as it is perfectly simple and safe. Mr H A Gaston late from the eastern cities and California is agent for Oregon. For the present he is stopping at the Occidental Hotel where the washer may be seen and tested.

NOVEL RAT TRAP—Mr H A Gaston has on exhibition at the Occidental Hotel a novel, patent rat trap—a little the slickest thing out for caging vermin. The rat is enticed in through a rat hole, in one end of a box another similar rat hole being visible at the opposite end. Whether the victim stops to lunch upon the inviting cheese or sweet bread placed in the box or undertake to go straight through he steps upon a little platform set upon triggers which spring doors across the holes at each end and the rat finds himself suddenly a prisoner in a dark room. In a partition, however he finds a little grated grate which promises to let him out and through this he goes, as sure as fate into the next compartment, but while he does so the opening of the gate throws the doors of the rat hole thus leaving the way open to the next comer. Of course the rat in the second compartment is as much a prisoner as ever the side of the box where he saw the light of freedom being grated with wire. So every rat sets the trap for the next one that may come along. The box has often been found to contain as many rats in the morning as could well crowd into the second cell. Its capacity is limited by want of room. The machine is eminently calculated to have a rat to his ruin. For price, inquire of Mr H A Gaston.

IMPROVEMENTS TO THE STATE FAIR GROUNDS.—We learn from Major Magone that the President and Board of Managers have been industrious this summer in the matter of making improvements to the State Fair Grounds and buildings. An extension has been built to the western wing of the Pavilion increasing the room nearly or quite one-third of the original capacity. New barns have been built and twenty new pump wells have been sunk. The managers are determined that this year there shall be no lack of water or other material convenience. The grounds generally have been cleaned up and the fences and gates put in a state of good repair. Arrangements are making at this early day to accommodate the biggest crowd ever assembled in Oregon.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS' COURT.—Thursday Sept. 8th.—Most of the day was occupied in auditing bills against the county. Among the items of business the preceding day not mentioned in the report for that day were the following:

A J Dufur and A Whiteaker were appointed viewers of the road to Sunderland's.

Chapman vs Baker. Judgment on verdict of jury for $50 for plaintiff.

The sum of $40 was appropriated for the repair of the bridge on James P[illegible] well's place.

The sum of $100 was allowed for the reward offered for the capture of Trainor and $50 extra for men employed in making the capture.

FROM KLAMATH.—Major Jos Magone called on us last evening. He has just come in from the Klamath Reservation to procure some machinery yet needed for the lumber and flouring mills at the Reservation. Smith Bros of this city have already got up and shipped most of the machinery for these mills. The saw mill is now well under way and the Major thinks he will get it to running early in October. The flouring mill will be built afterward. Major Magone came in with Mr Woodworth by way of the Eugene Military road. His opinion of that route as a feasible railroad route is not a very high one.

REAL ESTATE AT EAST PORTLAND.—To illustrate the unprecedented and wonderful advance of real estate on the other side of the river we have the instance of a sale effected yesterday. In February 1868 Mr P W Gillette purchased block 12 in McMillan's addition—below Clinton's Point—for $350. Yesterday he sold the same block without any improvement for $1 850 coin in hand. This is over four hundred per cent. on the original investment in nineteen months. How's that for high?

TO BRING [illegible] ANOTHER VESSEL.—The Bulletin is informed that Capt Wm H Besse since having disposed of his interest in the ship Hattie C Besse has returned to New York and purchased at that place a large vessel of 1 500 tons burthen. This vessel is now on the berth laying in a miscellaneous cargo for Portland and will sail via Cape Horn as soon as it is completed. It is the intention of Capt Besse to place his new vessel on the line between Portland and Hong Kong.

PERSONAL.—[illegible] Jeff C Davis, late in command at Sitka took passage for San Francisco per Orifl[illegible] yesterday to go thence overland to Washington under orders from the War Department.

Asahel Bush [illegible] was also a passenger by the [illegible] east with his eldest daughter [illegible] place her in a school, and will return in about six weeks.

MEMBERS [illegible] Members of the Legislature are arriving from the north and south to the city. We notice also in the city several members from the southern part of the State among whom we may mention Mr Herman Senator [illegible] Douglas County and Curry and Mr Fay Senator elect from Jackson county.

[illegible] The railroad track has been laid to a point about seven miles beyond Wacomb. The train reached the latter place for the first time on Wednesday [illegible] transfer of passengers to the stage about two [illegible] We understand that now the trains [illegible] to Woodburn.

[illegible] The bark [illegible] James having been sold at San Francisco was [illegible] Mr [illegible] and [illegible] with [illegible] It is expected she will arrive [illegible] the first of [illegible] December next [illegible]

EUREKA STEAM WASHER.—Within the last [illegible] multitude of washing machines and [illegible] have been devised and patented—[illegible] claiming some new virtue and each pretending [illegible] the sine qua non As in all other de[illegible] of inventions and patents however [illegible] proven to have merit while the many [illegible] tried and found wanting We have [illegible] new candidate in the shape of a steam [illegible] called the "Eureka Steam Washer which [illegible] to be constructed on philosophic princi[illegible] A description of the apparatus would re[illegible] too much space it must be sufficient to [illegible] it is so fashioned with compartments [illegible] and conducting pipes as to secure con[illegible] and violent currents of not only steam but [illegible] through the clothing to be operated upon, [illegible] further attention than is usually given to [illegible] common boiler There are testimonials from [illegible] ladies who have used it to the effect [illegible] this boiler requires less fire and less soap [illegible] any other, while it bleaches and whitens [illegible] clothes much more rapidly and perfectly than [illegible] other. The cost is within everybody s reach, [illegible] anybody can operate it as its use is perfectly [illegible] and safe. Mr H A Gaston, late from [illegible] States and California, is agent for Ore[illegible]. For the present he is stopping at the Occi[illegible] Hotel, where the washer may be seen and [illegible]

[illegible] RAT TRAP —Mr H A Gaston has on [illegible] at the Occidental Hotel a novel patent [illegible]—a little the slickest thing out for caging [illegible]. The rat is invited in through a rat hole, [illegible] of a box another similar rat hole being [illegible] the opposite end Whether the victim [illegible] upon the inviting cheese or sweet[illegible] in the box, or undertake to go [illegible] through, he steps upon a little platform [illegible] which spring doors across the [illegible] end, and the rat finds himself sud[illegible] in a dark room In a partition [illegible] he finds a little grated grate which [illegible] him out, and through this he goes, [illegible] into the next compartment, but [illegible] the opening of the gate throws [illegible] of the rat holes thus leaving the way [illegible] next comer Of course the rat in the [illegible] is as much a prisoner as [illegible] of the box where he saw the light of [illegible] being grated with wire So every rat [illegible] up the next one that may come along [illegible] often been found to contain as many [illegible] morning as could well crowd into the [illegible] Its capacity is limited by want of [illegible] machine is eminently calculated to [illegible] ruin For price, inquire of Mr [illegible]

The Fest March by the German Glee Club won for the singers long and enthusiastic applause and a second call before the curtain They gave the audience then The Huntsman s Farewell which was also very warmly applauded The audience constantly manifested its appreciation of the performances of the 23d Infantry Band The comedy of Mr and Mrs Peter White by the ladies and gentlemen of the Bates Dramatic company kept the audience in almost a constant roar of laughter In this Melville did particularly well The entertainment closed with the Dupple Schaussen March by the 23d Infantry Band

Sir Francis Drake s Heirs—A Property Valued at $125 000 000

[From the New York Tribune August 22]

Some 200 descendants of Sir Francis Drake met yesterday at the Brandreth House to confer in regard to the recovery of the Admiral s former estates in Devonshire and Yorkshire England Sir Francis Drake the twelfth son of Sir Thomas Drake of Yorkshire entered the naval service of England at an early age attained great renown and amassed a fortune of some £2 000 000 sterling The property was according to English custom strictly entailed and descended to the eldest son until the entail was broken and the fifth Sir Francis Drake dying bequeathed to his daughter the manor house at Walton a miniature of Queen Elizabeth set in diamonds gilt plate and 7 000 pounds of silver plate The American heirs claim to be the lineal descendants of Sir Thomas Drake the male branch cut off through this will in favor of the daughter The American descendants first came to this country in 1 12 and settled in New Hampshire where shortly after another branch of the family, great grandchildren of the great Sir Francis made their homes in New Jersey near the present town of Elizabeth During the early part of the present century an Irish descendant became convinced, by the examination of documents in Doctor s Commons that the immense inheritance belonged by right to that branch of the family settled in New Jersey and advised them to prosecute without delay their legal rights to the property

While Mr Adams was Minister at the Court of St James, they addressed a memorial embodying the above facts and asked that the customary steps might be taken by him to enable them to establish their claims He referred them to Sergeant Fisher as being the best searcher of extinct titles in England That gentleman accordingly undertook the arduous task and traced through some twenty lines down to the present day the only break in the three generations being some twenty years He is confident of ultimately succeeding in finding this

The appraised value of the entire property claimed is $125,000 000

NOT IN A HURRY —The express train was whirling along over the Lehigh Valley railroad the other day—behind time and running at a furious speed—when the engineer caught sight of an old lady slowly pottering ahead upon the track Instantly the whistle was blown No heed however was taken of it But thinking the venerable dame would get out of danger in due time the speed was not slackened, though the screaming of the whistle made the mountains ring Yet still she (the woman) kept slowly on neither turning her head to the right nor left until the engine was almost upon her Then the breaks were put on with a will and a stoppage effected just in time to save her life

What the—devil is the matter with you? asked the engineer as he jumped off and took the ancient dam by the shoulder

Guess you needn t scream so I have made fuss enough already was the cause reply

You heard the whistle then

Certainly I haint deaf

Then why in the name of thunder didn t you get off the track

You haint got no right to run over folks as I know on and it s your business to stop when you see them walking on the track

The swearing of our army in Flanders was nothing compared to that of the engineer as he pushed her aside sprang upon the machine and set it whizzing again to the tune of forty miles an hour

False Pretenses

The vast and continually increasing sales of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have provoked the envy of a certain class of dealers in various parts of the country who are trying to substitute their utterly worthless nostrums for the most popular proprietary medicine in the world These impostors hope by their false statements to obtain from the millions who patronize the great American Tonic a sufficient number of customers to make their speculations upon the health of their neighbors profitable As the demand for Hostetter s Bitters is now so large and urgent as to tax to the fullest extent the facilities of its manufacture, these petty attempts to wring in the nearest trash by false representations are of little consequence to its proprietors They are however a serious evil to the victimized If for example at this season when a real living tonic is greatly needed the sufferer from general debility indigestion biliousness or nervous weakness is coaxed into using a wishy washy compound with [illegible] any medicinal virtue, instead of the sovereign specific in which the rarest tonic and alterative vegetable elements are scientifically combined it is obvious that he will rue the day when he allowed himself to be thus deluded It is the interest of parties who have been or may be influenced by the persons on[illegible] plaids [illegible] charlatans that this article is published With the light [illegible] twenty years experience to guide him why should the invalid take a leap in the dark

[illegible] with him [illegible]

It has been [illegible] has ever sympathized [illegible] her lessons upon Mr [illegible] draw [illegible] Doctors Commons [illegible] great [illegible]

[illegible] Mr Starleigh was a [illegible] travagant of Sir [illegible] been a [illegible] less at the time when [illegible] D Best) was [illegible] Mr Serjeant B[illegible] who was [illegible] and insolent manner in which he bullied witnesses

The Cheerybles [illegible] Grant & Brothers cotton spinners [illegible] near Manchester [illegible] exaggerate [illegible] disposition nor the [illegible] father was a small farmer in [illegible] Scotland The vast property of the brothers was inherited by their sons and nephews A monument erected on [illegible] between Ramsbottom and Bury marks the spot where the brothers then starting [illegible] was subsequently their [illegible] Mr Daniel [illegible] years in his [illegible] ter His friends [illegible] invitation to take [illegible] with him whenever [illegible] never entertained [illegible] There were ten pegs in the hall on which was always occupied by [illegible] As his friends came in each appropriated one of the pegs When the whole ten were thus covered the next seeing that the party was complete left his card and compliments with the [illegible] to dine determining [illegible] deavor to arrive earlier next time All that I have heard [illegible] the generosity of [illegible] and his brothers [illegible] stating that Dickens [illegible] ness and [illegible] by geniality and [illegible] y too highly colored

In Dombey and Son several characters are said to have been drawn from life Mr Dombey is supposed to represent Mr [illegible] Chapman shipowner [illegible] posite the [illegible] honor of meeting Mr Chapman at dinner at [illegible] manner was [illegible] equalled [illegible] he sat or stood as the case might be bolt upright, as if he knew not how to bend as if in fact as if he had swallowed the drawing room poker in his youth and had never digested it As if to make Mr Chapman undoubtedly identical with Dombey we have as messenger of the commercial house of Dombey & Son one [illegible] actually taken from a funny little old chap named Stephen Hale who was part clerk part messenger in Mr Chapman's office Old Sol Gills was intended for a little fellow named Norie who kept a very small shop in Leadenhall street exactly opposite the office of John Chapman & Co in which the stock in trade comprised chronometers barometers [illegible] compasses charts, maps sextants quadrants and specimens of every kind of instruments used in the working of a ship's course or the keeping of a ship's reckoning or the prosecution of a ship's discoveries " In front of this small shop stands a figure carved in wood and gorgeously painted, of a miniature midshipman with a quadrant in his hand as if about taking an observation What is more the little shop and the wooden midshipman may be seen, by the curious adorning Leadenhall street to this very day I speak of the wooden midshipman as I saw him in 18[illegible]2 He may have been swept away by what is called improvement Captain Cuttle was one David Mainland master of a merchantman who was introduced to Dickens the day when, with Thomas Chapman Daniel Maclise John Leech Thomas Powell and Samuel Rogers he went to see Crosby Hall Bishopsgate street

In David Copperfield the striking character of Wilkins Micawber who was always waiting for something to turn up was believed by many [illegible] petent to [illegible] tempt to represent [illegible] own father It was said that the elder Dickens knew it and did not wholly disapprove [illegible] remembered by the readers of David Copperfield that though Mr Micawber is represented as careless in money matters apt to get out of it by means of bills and notes of hand, he never saves [illegible] ance with [illegible] ally waiting for something to turn up and shifting [illegible] But he is never mean false nor [illegible] his keen sense of [illegible] eventually places him [illegible] with that precious [illegible] grace to an honorable profession [illegible] Uriah Heap

In Bleak House at least three characters are said to have been drawn from real life These are Esther Summerson [illegible] Harold Skimpole [illegible] to have known [illegible] so much of the story of Bleak House believed to bear a great resemblance to Miss Sophia Iselin author of a volume of poems published in 18[illegible] Harold Skimpole a portrait of Charles Lamb, was [illegible] by Edward [illegible] publisher who benefited largely [illegible] Rodgers testamentary provision [illegible] Iselin has no cause to complain [illegible] length in Bleak House

SECURE A HOME!!

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION!

EAST PORTLAND, OREGON

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS [illegible] ONE HUNDRED SHARES [illegible]

The following extracts from the O[illegible]

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

This association of whose organization we gave an account a few days since is now ready [illegible] shares As it is [illegible] organization of [illegible] kind in this city it may be well enough to state what are its purposes and [illegible] The purposes of these Homestead Associations are not at all speculative in the ordinary sense of the word They are dependent for the profits of their investment upon the natural advance in the value of their lands [illegible] the co-operation of many individuals shareholders—and the advance on values of surrounding lands by reason of the expansion of population and demand for room outside of but near the city The Riverside Homestead Association has a fraction over one hundred and twenty acres of land situated just south of Brooklyn on the east side of the river the nearest boundary line being about one mile from the ferry landing at East Portland. The tract lies in one strip along the Wallamet river half a mile in length and another strip along the Oregon and California railroad half a mile in length the two strips being connected near the middle by two rows of blocks (with a street between them) the whole forming a figure not unlike the letter H It is divided into 74 blocks 200 feet square (with streets running at right angles) and 30 fractional lots along the river front The shares number 600, worth $60 per share It will be seen that a share thus represents nearly a lot with an undivided interest in the 30 fractional lots The 30 fractional shares are to be sold off at the proper time for the benefit of the Association shareholders coming in for the proceeds in proportion to the number of shares held When all shares are taken and the Association shall determine to [illegible] the choice of lots and blocks will be put up at auction to the highest bidder the proceeds of such sales after deducting the original price of shares or lots to be divided equally among the whole number of shares Thus if a person wants a particular lot or block and is willing to pay $100 or $500 premium more or less as the case may be he pays it and takes the lot or block as his individual property the premium being divided among the whole number of shareholders It will be seen therefore that everything is co-operative and all interests mutual No man can make a dollar out of it without also making a dollar for every other equal shareholder There is no chance for loss unless the property by some chance should depreciate far below the first actual cost. Whether this is liable to happen in the case of this particular tract of land must be judged by each for himself but considering the steady and unprecedented advance on real estate in this city and neighborhood and at East Portland and vicinity for the last year or two it seems hardly possible for values to go back

In the Riverside Association all proper precautions seem to have been taken to guard against monopolies of shares No person is allowed to buy more than the number of shares representing three blocks or twenty four lots and votes determining the operations of the Association are restricted in the same manner The buyers of shares may pay down $60 per share, which will exempt them from all assessments or they may pay $15 quarterly with an assessment of $ per share payable with the first instalment being liable in this latter case to another (and only one other) assessment of $3 per share Upon the payment of the shares in full with the assessments as above the holder is entitled to his certificate and his proportion of all the profits accrued from all sources No officer of the Association receives any pay for services except the Secretary who gets $25 per month so it will be seen that the expenses must be light

That part of the tract lying along the river is a high plateau nearly level about 60 to 80 feet above the water There is no part of the front row of blocks but commands a splendid view of Portland and the river for miles up and down stream That part of the tract lying along the railroad is every foot of it of the richest loam soil and adapted to gardening purposes A beautiful little stream of pure water runs through almost the entire length of this wing of the tract affording by means of irrigation and power sufficient to supply pure water to every part of the whole tract There is not a waste or [illegible] in the entire tract Under all these advantages it would seem impossible that there should be any chance of loss to shareholders Within a year each shareholder if he choose may get a perfect title to as many lots as his shares may represent or he may continue his interest undivided with the Association while the organization may exist

We have been led to make these remarks from the fact that [illegible] of making homesteads in the [illegible] of the city and East Portland is being thoroughly discussed here among all classes and one homestead—the Riverside—just south of East Portland—has already been established [illegible]
